What Others Say of Him

It has been my privilege to know Mr. Huang for some years and to have seen and heard his illustrated lectures on China and the mystifying and amusing Chinese magic, which he at times is persuaded to display.

Mr. Huang is a clear and forceful speaker with a deep knowledge and love of China, himself representative of the poise and charm of Chinese culture.

His stereopticon views are unusually interesting and beautiful, and what he has to say about them brings one near to an understanding of the Orient.

ARTHUR L. SWIFT,
Director of Field Work, Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Mr. T. L. Huang is an alumnus of Peking University, a fellow-worker and a personal friend of mine for a number of years. He is a man of culture and refinement and is well qualified to speak on China before American audiences. I heartily recommend him to our friends.

J. LEIGHTON STUART,
President of Peking University, Peking, China.

Mr. T. L. Huang received his A.B. degree from Syracuse University in 1922. He made an excellent impression upon his associates and those members of the faculty with whom he came in contact while he was a student here. He is an excellent student and a very fine Christian gentleman. Mr. Huang deserves any consideration that may be shown him.

W. P. GRAHAM,
Vice-Chancellor, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

I have had the great pleasure of meeting and knowing Mr. Tien Lai Huang of China and have heard many favorable and pleasant things about his character, education and ability. So it is a real joy to me to wish him abundant blessing from God in his noble life and work, and to recommend him and his service to everybody who will work along with him, hear his lectures or addresses on the problems of China and International Relations, or support him in the activities he may try to promote.

ANTON T. BAST,
Bishop of the M. E. Church in the Copenhagen Area, Copenhagen, Denmark.

I have not had the pleasure of hearing Mr. T. L. Huang lecture, but from personal acquaintance have learned that he has an adequate knowledge of Chinese customs and movements, is a man of culture and good presence, with a good knowledge of English and of the needs of an American audience.

JOHN DEWEY,
Professor of Philosophy, Columbia University, N. Y.

Mr. Tien Lai Huang is one of our promising young men from Hinghwa, China, and has been among my personal friends for a number of years. He has acquitted himself most worthily as a student and Christian worker, both in China and in America. It gives me great pleasure to commend him to individuals, clubs, schools and churches as a young man deserving of all confidence, whose presence and lectures will be an inspiration to aspiring youth and will stimulate interest in the world-wide Kingdom enterprises of the Church.

I shall be glad to answer any further questions concerning him or his work.

F. T. KEENEY,
Bishop of the M. E. Church in the Omaha Area, Omaha, Nebraska, formerly Bishop of Fukien, China.

Mr. T. L. Huang, by his work in China and in this country, has proved himself worthy of every confidence and regard. He is able to bring his hearers much real information about a country which bulks large not only on the map, but in the world's interest. I cordially commend him to our friends.

HERBERT WELCH,
Bishop of the M. E. Church in Japan and Korea, Seoul, Korea.

" The interests of the United States and China along all lines are identical."
—THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

TIEN LAI HUANG, Chinese Secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, New York City, is an alumnus of Peking University, Syracuse University and Columbia University, and a native of Hinghwa, China. While studying in Hinghwa and Peking he acted as student secretary of the Y. M. C. A., a director of boys' clubs, Chairman of Social Service Groups, Student Pastor, and a leader of the Youth Movement in China. Since coming to America in 1921, Mr. Huang has lectured on Chinese internal problems and International Relations in many churches and schools, as well as to commercial, scientific and literary organizations. He has also conducted social, religious and political forums, and has spoken at a number of student and church conferences. He has been a student at Union Theological Seminary and is now a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Teachers College, Columbia University.

Mr. Huang is deeply interested in interpreting China to America. For this purpose he is prepared not only to give lectures but to illustrate them with a series of interesting stereopticon views of missionary work, of China and Chinese customs, and of the Student Movement and the Modern Industrial Revolution in China. Of greatest interest to his audiences are the exhibitions of Oriental magic, and musical entertainments which he occasionally gives at social gatherings.

Mr. Huang's knowledge of his native land and his study of American life and customs make him a unique figure of special significance to Americans interested in the relations of the East and West.

Mr. Tien Lai Huang is a man of the highest character; his personality is attractive, and his knowledge of China is that of a highly trained, native son, who has spent four years in study in American institutions of learning.

I have never heard Mr. Huang speak, but have often discussed questions with him, and have no doubt of his ability to interest, and inspire audiences with a desire to know the wonderful land of China.

ROBERT M. McELROY,
Professor of American History, Princeton University, Princeton, N. J. formerly Managing Director of the China Society of America.

Mr. Tien Lai Huang has lectured both to our Forums and to our groups on the Reconciliation Trips in New York City.

Our people were very delighted to hear him, both because he possesses so genial a disposition, radiating good-will, and because he has very interesting material to present through his pictures and lectures.

I cheerfully recommend him to speak in churches or before other groups.

CLARENCE V. HOWELL,
Director of the Reconciliation Trips, New York City.

It is a pleasure to recommend a man of Mr. Tien Lai Huang's character and ability. I knew him several years at Syracuse University as one of my students and always found him courteous and industrious. He is exceptionally well informed on matters pertaining to his country, and I am glad to recommend him to any committee, pastor, or community, wishing a lecture on some Oriental topic.

A. C. FLICK,
State Historian Director, The University of the State of New York,
The State Department of Education, Albany, N. Y.

Some of Mr. Huang's lecture subjects:

China's Role in the World Drama.

America and China, Their Relations on the Pacific.

China's Contribution to World Culture.

The Chinese Renaissance Movement.

Philosophy and Religion in China.

What the Chinese Are Thinking About Christianity.

Seen Through Oriental Eyes.

An Oriental Impression of America.

The Land of Cathay Illustrated with Stereopticon Views.

Bandit, Soldier and Farmer in China.

Mr. T. L. Huang has spoken in many of the pulpits of the Buffalo Area, and was one of the speakers at the Laymen's Convention in February of last year. He speaks very entertainingly and instructively concerning China and the Chinese.

ELI PITTMAN,
Secretary and Treasurer, Cazenovia Seminary Centennial, Syracuse, N. Y., formerly Secretary of the Buffalo Area of the M. E. Church.

It has been my pleasure to know Mr. Tien Lai Huang for three years and I have the highest admiration of his character and ability. In these times of international strife and social prejudice Mr. Huang is rendering excellent service in interpreting the life and conditions of his people to the American public. I can recommend him most heartily as a fascinating speaker and I am glad to commend him to churches, young people's societies and any other organizations interested in promoting genuine friendly relations between our country and China.

CHARLES D. HURREY,
General Secretary, Committee of Friendly Relations, Y. M. C. A.
